To Whom It May Concern

We would like to feedback on our positive working experience with one particular staff of your company, Mr Nick Yang.

Nick was assigned to assist us after the completion of my company's website development. While after-sales service is always a concern, we are in the good hands of Nick. Nick has been prompt, efficient and always ready to go the extra mile in delivering his service. He is always willingly to look into our queries as we are not well-versed in matters of IT.

We hope this positive working experience will translate to many more good years of business relationship with your company.

Yours sincerely

Chelsia Ng-Lee
