

LEAP of LIGHT

To whom it may concern,

Its a good choice that we decided to engage Firstcom Solutions for our web development project. They are reputable and provide good quality work.

From the start, Kelvin Wee has introduced to us various web packages as well as branding packages to assist with our company's marketing.

When the project started, Jason Koh (Project Executive) and Kevin Koh (Web programmer) are very helpful with helping us to coordinate and guide us through the different phase of the project. Both of them display professionalism with great attitude and patience in explanation and recommendation. They had provide alot of good and valueable suggestion which help to enhance our web developement project and they are very open and willing to listen and understand what we want to achieve.

We can feel their sincerity as they do their best and replies promptly to our web development project as well.

Thank you Firstcom Solutions.

Regards,
